HEADLINE: Darfur, Now That We Know

BODY:

To the Editor:

It is important that Nicholas D. Kristof has shared with us the human evidence of the Darfur atrocities so that we visually understand the crimes; so that our leaders cannot claim, as they have in the past, that they did not know; and so that we may all be moved to do something to try to stop the crisis, as Mr. Kristof proposes.

In the movie "Hotel Rwanda," about the 1994 Rwandan genocide, a character says, "If people see this footage, they'll go, 'Oh my God! That's horrible!' then go on eating their dinner."

After viewing these photographs and other evidence of the atrocities in Darfur, let's not go back to eating our dinner. Not this time. And never again.
